Pa News saw a local motorist taking his car to a garage today to have a new windshield played in it. The windshield had been shattered, apparently the result of some boy shooting a slingshot with the windshield of the car as the target.

Autumn leaves are at their most vivid hues at the present time in the wooded sections of Lawrence County. There are an unusually large number of trees on which the leaves have turned striking red colors.

Now is the time to start looking around the premises to see what scrap can be contributed to the drive that is to start in this community on next Saturday. Every resident can contribute something, and all scrap available is needed for the war effort.

Congress Turns To Tax Problems

Senate To Begin Consideration Of Tax Measure Tuesday

DELAY ACTION ON YOUTH DRAFTING

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—With the drastic anti-inflation program off its hands, Congress today was confronted with the three major issues of taxes, manpower and appropriations.

The Senate readied itself to begin consideration of the $7,900,000,000 tax bill tomorrow, with Sen. Walter F. George (D. Ga.), chairman of the finance committee, hopeful of passage in less than a week.

Delay Until After Election
Congressional leaders indicated that the questions of compulsory draft of manpower and the drafting of 18 and 19-year-old youths for military service will be brought up soon after the November 3 election. There are many manpower bills pending in both houses.

Fuze appropriation bills to carry on the war appeared to be the only other business of importance facing Congress in the next few months.

The Senate finance committee's revision of the House-approved tax bill is estimated by committee experts to take $9,672,700,000 additional from taxpayers in one full year, but the net yield would be reduced by post-war refunds totaling $1,772,700,000.

The committee estimates are discussed

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt, completing his organization of a war and home front "high command," today made the White House more than ever before the nation's GHQ for the duration.

To his side in the historic executive mansion he brought his newly appointed chief for the economic battle within—63-year-old James F. Byrnes, who resigned as an associate supreme court justice to become economic stabilization director.

The "czar" of Mr. Roosevelt's sweeping program to control the cost of living thus became the second deputy to the commander-in-chief for over-all prosecution of the war. Already installed in the White House as chief of staff to the President is Admiral William D. Leahy, veteran naval strategist and diplomat.

Admiral Leahy since mid-summer has been the President's No. 1 adviser on the United States' military and naval role in the global war.

Henderson completed the drastic order extending rent control to the entire nation only 24 hours after President Roosevelt ordered ceilings placed over wages, salaries and prices, and announced that it would be issued today.

The OPA head also disclosed that his office would amend OPA regulations to prevent eviction of tenants resulting from sale of properties, and the "dumping" of properties on the market to avoid rent control. He said that "this practice must cease."

Plane Falls In Newfoundland

Thirty-Seven On Plane Which Crashed—Dead Include Military Officials

PROBE LAUNCHED INTO ACCIDENT

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Preliminary investigation was under way today into the crash of an airplane carrying 37 persons, including military and government officials, 10 of whom were killed and eight injured, at Botwood, Newfoundland.

Government officials who were passengers aboard the plane included Louis Galantieri and Edward S. Mason of the board of analysts, department of strategic services, Washington, D. C., but so far as could be determined none with government connections, excepting military officials, was among the dead and injured. Five officers, including Lieut. Col. James Edward Whitaker of Worcester, Mass., were among the fatalities.

Crash Saturday
The official announcement stated merely that the crash occurred between 5 and 6 p. m. Saturday and that the hull of the plane had split in the fall and that the damaged craft "was towed to shallow water for salvage operations," an indication that the craft had plunged into Trinity Bay off Botwood.

The known injured, all of whom were army officers, included Col. Clifford Palmer Bradley and August W. Kissner, both of Washington, D. C., Alfred C. McNevin of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Major John H. Watkins, of Hamden, Conn.

Among those listed as escaping injury were two women passengers identified as Miss Adele Jenkins of Jackson Heights, N. Y., and Helen J. Skoulard of Alameda, Calif., a government clerk.

ceiling, in cities, towns and rural areas, Henderson said that any landlord who has raised rents since March 1 should scale them down as a "patriotic citizen."

Previously In 396 Areas

Rent control previously had been extended to 396 defense areas, including all war production and military centers, and embracing a population of 90,000,000 persons. The new ceiling will apply to the remainder of the country.

Henderson also broadened his control to 90 per cent of the American food budget. Sixty-day emergency ceilings went into effect today on food items hitherto exempt from price-control—butter, eggs, poultry, flour, potatoes, fresh and canned citrus fruits, dry onions and similar commodities.

The ceilings, consisting of the highest levels of the five-year period from September 28 through October 2, are not permanent, however. Rollbacks are to be expected. "I always like to get 'em a little lower," Henderson said.

Meanwhile, James F. Byrnes, the newly appointed "economic czar" was quickly formulating a national economic policy that will embrace all factors affecting inflation, including planning of labor. Byrnes announced that he would establish his office at the White House and "get down to work at once."

Byrnes conferred with various officials and is expected to call the economic stabilization board, of which he is chairman, into session early this week to tackle the problem of harmonizing conflicting anti-inflation views among administration heads.

It was reported that James G. Patton, head of the National Farmers Union, and an official of the American Farm Bureau Federation may be named as the board's farmer representatives. Clark Brody, head of the farm bureau in Michigan, also was mentioned as a possible appointee.

Cox, who had a passion for animals, also had 15 St. Bernard dogs, seven of other breeds, three horses, 17 cows and 55 pigs.

AUSTRALIANS ARE MOVING TOWARD JAP-HELD KOKODA

considerably beyond Efofi, 44 air miles from Port Moresby. Were taking up positions in the mountain gap in preparation for a descent down the steep hillside toward Kokoda, midway between the Jap coastal base of Buna on the north shore and the Allied base of Port Moresby.

(In Canberra Australia Air Minister Arthur Drakeford said that the Japanese were now "definitely on the defensive." He paid tribute to America's airmen and flying machines, declaring that their strength "is proving powerful in the air and checking the Japanese.")

A communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that the Australian ground fighters, after capturing Efofi, were continuing to advance.

Forward units of Australians were revealed to have made "light going" with some Japanese troops in advance beyond Efofi. Heretofore the Australian advance had encountered no Japanese because of the swift withdrawal of enemy forces in the face of the concerted Allied advance supported by large-scale air action.

The clash with the Japanese in the Efofi area, a spokesman at headquarters said, did not represent any attempt by the Japanese to fight a rear-guard action.

Details were lacking concerning the manner of advance beyond Efofi where the mountain track leading to Kokoda, midway between the main Jap base at Buna and Port Moresby, divides into two trails. One route to Kokoda, 60 miles from Port Moresby, leads through the Myioia Lakes district and the other goes by way of the village of Kagi. Although the trail through the mountains is winding and distances are considerably less by air, it was estimated that the Australians were within a dozen miles of Kokoda. The hamlet of Kagi can be reached from Efofi in three hours.

Allied fighters and bombers kept up constant strafing and bombing attacks against key points against the Japanese line of retreat.

Storage huts and other Jap installations were destroyed in attacks from the air while the Australians taking part in the ground campaign captured further large stores and equipment which the Japs were forced to abandon.

A force of Allied medium bombers meanwhile ranged out over the Solomon Islands again to attack the Jap-held airbase on the island of Buka, just north of Bougainville, at night.

Explosions blasted the airbase runway and fires were started in the dispersal areas. One grounded plane was known to have been destroyed.

A well-organized and continuing scrap collection program is essential to the continued high level operation of the United States' steel industry, according to the Department of Commerce.

UNDERSTANDING CENSORSHIP

CENSORSHIP is one of the most difficult items of self-discipline which democracies, for their own protection, are called upon to impose in war time. Yet both in Great Britain and in the United States there is no compulsory censorship of domestic news. There are no statutes to prohibit publication of certain categories of news, no censors sitting in newspaper offices to lift out stories, articles of comments, leaving great white spaces to mark their negative work.

This does not mean that there are not ultimate sanctions of law under which specific prosecutions could be sought in event of deliberate publication of facts dangerous to the national security. It does mean that when a newspaper is in doubt it consults government authorities to be sure that its information can be published without endangering the Allied armed might or giving aid and comfort to the Axis. It means constant cooperation and consultation between newspaper management and censorship in the working out of their mutual problems.

How censorship operates in the United States and Britain has just been explained in two almost simultaneous pronouncements, one in a speech by Byron Price, director of censorship, before the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association at Hot Springs, Ark., the other in an article published in "Bulletins from Britain," by Francis Williams, controller of censorship at London. The approach to their problem of these two censors is almost identical, an approach as far as it is possible to imagine from the Axis conception of dealing with the press.

Both Mr. Price and Mr. Williams agree that the public is entitled to the fullest possible information, short of giving the enemy facts that might result in the killing of American soldiers. Between the demand for information and the compulsions of narrow security considerations there is bound to be a gap which the public often does not understand. Mr. Price puts his goal thus:

"In censorship, as in all things, there is, somewhere, a road of common sense. We must find it."

Mr. Williams parallels him:

"Somewhere between these two conflicting principles the censorship has to try to produce a result which gives effect to them both."

How is it done?

In the United States there is a "Code of Censorship," in Britain a list known as "Defense Notices." For the guidance of newspaper editorship both set forth certain categories of information, publication of which would be dangerous to the Allied cause and helpful to the Axis. These categories, which include such obvious matters as troop, ship and cargo movements, locations of air fields and factories, statistics of productions, etc., guide newspapers in their handling of news.

The process isn't as simple as it sounds, but thus far it has worked better than might have been expected. Mr. Price has nothing but praise for the manner in which American newspapers have kept information from the nation's enemies. But he believes that newspapers haven't done such a good job in explaining to the public the reasons for withholding information. He doubts whether most newspapers have ever published the censorship code and the supplemental code. These are somewhat technical documents which are the basis on which publication of war news is selected. Most editors did not think the public was particularly interested in the full contents of these pamphlets.

The impatient or suspicious reader who does not understand the reason for certain news being held up or suppressed is directed to Mr. Price's statement that the basic consideration behind censorship is to withhold from the enemy information which will help him kill Americans. That is the consideration that newspaper readers must keep in mind when such incidents occur as survivors of a torpedoed ship coming ashore in plain view of hundreds of thousands on American coasts, of which no word appears in print.

Mr. Price's discussion is one of the ablest and most comprehensive presentations of the problems of censorship that has been thus far offered. There is one basic field of news, though, where censorship is involuntary and compulsory, in which newspapers have no discretion. That is censorship of official war news at its sources in the War and Navy departments. It concerns such matters as lists of casualties, announcement of losses of aircraft, transports, naval vessels and general results of operations.

Here strictest military censorship rules and no civilian whether he be Mr. Price himself or a newspaper editor, can do more than argue for fullest and promptest publication of facts, subject to the controlling judgment of those in command of the nation's armed forces, whose word is final.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRAIN CHILD TO BE RESPONSIBLE

The present crisis has made us parents, as never before, aware of the need that our children learn to bear responsibility. We ourselves are faced with increasing responsibilities in these trying times. While we can not always be sure our children will emulate us when we do our best, we can be sure that if we don't measure up well our growing children won't either.

Our country asks us to take all sorts of responsibilities for helping win the war, such as purchasing as many war stamps and bonds as we are able, conserving rubber, and other essentials, helping salvage old rubber and metals, faithfully cooperating in the rationing programs, in the blackouts and air raid drills, and helping in various other defense activities.

Voluntary Duties

In many parts of our nation there are look-out places from which to watch for possible raiders. This is a voluntary service and sometimes is done at a bit of inconvenience to the person or persons participating.

Suppose you, parent, have obligated yourself to be on duty at a watching station for a definite period of four hours once a week. Suppose you failed to be on hand or were late. In addition to the danger to your country from your negligence, see the perils to the character of your children.

On the contrary, see the value to the moral growth of our children when they know we faithfully measure up to all such responsibilities. So also to our children and other people's children when as Scout leaders, Camp Fire leaders, club leaders, Sunday school teachers and the like, we always are dependable.

Teach Children By Example

When our children or other members of the family suggest that we should not take voluntary duties so seriously, since so many others don't, we have a special opportunity to say quietly: "I feel this my duty," and to go on faithfully performing it.

Having proved ourselves good examples in doing this, we can be so much more effective at holding our growing children to being dependable in large and small matters. What we should like to teach our children through example and precept is the principle so forcefully expressed by Jesus in the words: "He that is faithful in that which is least will also be faithful in that which is great."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you ever punish a child to make him eat?

A. No; it is well to avoid punishment in connection with food taking. My special bulletin on "Feeding Problems, Their Prevention or Correction," may be had without cost to you by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

The World and the Mud Puddles

WAR AND CIVIL LIBERTY

The courts follow the war news as well as the election returns. The Federal Court for the northern district of California, in the first specific decision on the constitutionality of the forced evacuation of American-born Japanese, has upheld the President against a challenge by the Civil Liberties Union. The opinion rests on no clear precedent, indeed runs counter to several. In peacetime it would constitute a serious threat to the civil rights of all citizens. In wartime, however, it recognizes that far more immediate and more dangerous threat to those civil rights exists.

In effect the opinion means that a military commander may declare any region a military zone, and having done so, may order any citizen to take up his home and his business and move somewhere else. The opinion was an oral one, without comment, but it is probably that the court established for the first time, the juridical consequences of total war. The power of a military commander to move a citizen during an actual rebellion or invasion is unquestionable, but various Civil War cases, notable except Milligan, sharply define the area. Commanders would appear to lose their arbitrary rights over civilians when they pass beyond the sound of musket fire.

Under present methods of warfare there may be some question whether California is not in an invasion area. Certainly for practical purposes there can be no doubt of the defense necessity of being able to evacuate persons of doubtful loyalty away from strategic coastal regions.

When the President issued his executive order last February giving military commanders unprecedented powers, Attorney General Biddle denied that it constituted martial law, since the right of habeas corpus was not denied. He indicated, however, that the order lay in a legalistic twilight zone, but he added "In my judgment, the courts would say, 'This is a military matter, and we will not go behind it.'"

One court has now said that, and it seems a safe prediction to make that the higher courts will do likewise. In the light of war realities they could do nothing else. But it is another example of the basic fact that wars always have the effect of abridging civil liberties.

Giving notice far in advance of putting a ban on anything gives some birds a chance to stock up on those things and make them scarce. Buy when you need things and you will find you can most always get them, if they are not being hoarded.

THE BEST POLICY

A motorist speeding through a country neighborhood killed a hen. He stopped and pressed a $2 bill into the hand of little Edna, who was on her way to neighbor Reed's. Edna ran and told her mamma of her good fortune.

"Well," said her thrifty mother, "put the money in your bank and I will cut the hen's head off so we can eat her."

"Perhaps, mamma," said Edna thoughtfully, "as long as we have the money we had better let the Reeds eat the hen. It was their hen."

An Englishman living in the provinces received one morning the following bill from a man whom he had dealings:

Looks like some foreign language, but translated into normal English the words are, "Horse for a day," "Hay for the horse" and "Fetching of him home."

There are people who are always against anything that they do not favor and cannot benefit by.

Going around and seeing old friends is a fine thing. Lately we have been calling on some very old friends, some of whom are sick, and we were glad to see them and they were glad to see us.

Clothing Buying Boom To Come First
People Will Have Money Here To Buy
To Take Plants Months To Come Back

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Forecasting a big buying boom at the war's end didn't really require the intensive investigation with which the United States Chamber of Commerce preceded its recent prophecy that one will speedily follow the world conflict's termination.

It stands to reason that peace's restoration will find all sorts of life's ordinary requirements piled up enormously.

There'll be populations elsewhere in the world which probably won't be able to supply themselves with what they need, no matter how urgent their necessities. This country, however, in all likelihood, will have plenty of money in its pockets for quite awhile after an international treaty's conclusion.

The U. S. Chamber's management doubtless was perfectly aware of all this and did its investigating less with a view to verifying its judgment than to ascertaining just what classifications of goods there'll be the most immediate call for.

The quiz indicated that no particular shortage will exist in the line of edibles. Consumers perhaps will have been on rather short rations or will have been wholly deprived of foods of their various especial fancies. They won't have gone actually hungry for anything essential, though.

Clothing First

The Chamber's figures suggest that the first rush will be in the direction of clothing stores and shoe shops, inasmuch as wearing apparel and foot gear are apt to be pretty well worn out if the strife lasts much longer.

Then there'll be an outcry for furniture, assorted household equipment and repairs and the improvement of premises.

Production plants will be about six months in getting back upon a peacetime basis sufficiently to fill their customers' orders, from all accounts. After that it's predicted that they'll start to expand, to enable men to cope with a permanently increased volume of business.

President E. A. Johnson of the United States Chamber gives it as his judgment that the expected burst of post-war activity will speedily provide jobs for our discharged soldiery and workers now engaged in arms and munitions manufacture and the creation of miscellaneous military equipment.

In short, it's a normal post-war program, just like what, followed the last war, and continued until the crash occurred, subsequently developing into the prolonged depression.

The crash and depression are what outfits like the United States (Continued On Page Seven)

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

The Archbishop of Canterbury raised a point the other day that is worth putting the glass on.

He said it was about time that the whole system of private ownership of land was re-examined.

Looking at our farm situation we can say "amen" to that.

In 1940 the farms of this country were mortgaged for $6,909,794,000. More than one-third of that money was placed through the Federal Land banks (that's your money).

In 1940 various government agencies pumped $765,799,000 into farms (your money again).

Insurance companies hold $883,414,000 in farm mortgages (your premiums) and banks $334,170,000 (your deposits).

Is it any wonder that the farm problem is a crazy quilt of hodge-podge economics?

WASHINGTON—Bernard Baruch, elder statesman, is optimistic. "Never before in the two years that our production effort has been underway have I been as encouraged as I am now. Nelson (Donald M. Nelson, WPB chief) is headed in the right direction."

SAN FRANCISCO—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt asks mobilization of civilian defense councils to permit American wives to enter the war effort completely. "We need nursery schools, community laundries, family restaurants where meals can be obtained at the same cost as they would be in the home, and some recreational organizations."

LONDON—Brig. Gen. Frank O'D. Hunter, chief of the U. S. Army Air Force fighter command congratulates American pursuit pilots who took part in the daylight raid over occupied France: "It is a good omen for the future under your country's flag."

CHICAGO—Senator H. H. Burton of Ohio believes the best route to Tokyo is through Alaska: "We must not lose one foot of it, nor neglect the opportunity we now have to open and prepare this route so that some day it will be suited to the needs of an irresistible avalanche by air, land and sea that will win our war with Japan."

President And Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. BEFORE THE recent "secret" excursion by the President to the Pacific Coast is put under the head of "finished business," several things need to be said. With the gag out of its mouth the protest of the American press has been such as to warn that the kind of senseless censorship to which it was subjected in this case will not again be tolerated.

TO HAVE done less would have been to abandon all pretense of journalistic independence and supinely concede the Administration the right to conceal its misdeeds and mistakes behind an imposed silence. That is the method of the Hitlers and Mussolinis. It is the custom in the totalitarian countries, but it is in sharp conflict with the spirit of democratic countries such as England and the United States, and it makes slightly absurd our proclamations about freedom.

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

Jean Register, a farm girl of Marlinton, N. J., is only fourteen years old, but she is positive that she and Hank Ralston, 21-year-old Philadelphia truckdriver, are meant for each other.

So, naturally, it was just too mean of the police to catch the two when they were running away to Elkton, Md., to get married.

How does Jean know that Hank is the ideal man for her?

Well, if this doesn't prove it what does?

"I love Hank better than ice cream," she told the police emphatically. "I'm going to stick with him. He is the only boy I ever loved in my entire life."

And, with equal emphasis, Hank Ralston stated that as soon as he met her, two years ago, he knew that it was love at first sight.

Volumes and volumes have been written about love.

Psychologists, psychiatrists, philosophers, novelists and poets have probed it, dissected it, sung about it; they have broken pens, pencils and typewriter keys in its praise or condemnation.

Yet what more learned, more logical, more pointed thing has anyone been able to say than:

"I love him better than ice cream."

Gosh, what a love! She was twelve when she met him. It was love at first sight.

Let's dream a moment, just dream. Let's imagine her meeting Hank in her little village.

He 19, she 12. There goes the spark; it's LOVE.

Into the ice-cream parlor they go. "Two vanilla cones, please."

Out they go into the moonlight night, munching their ice-cream cones.

It's hard to talk of love, ice cream melts so quickly.

He looks at her, she looks at him. The moon smiles benignly.

That is LOVE, even greater than ice cream!

Have you a better definition?

Mine Workers

In Convention

By JACK VINCENT

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—Twenty-eight hundred delegates to the United Mine Workers Union convention gathered in Cincinnati today awaiting a cue from their leader, John L. Lewis, whether to vote an open break with the C.I.O.

Ora Gasaway, president of District 30 of the miners and righthand man of Lewis, predicted that the U.M.W. convention, which opens tomorrow, would settle the bitter controversy between Lewis and the C.I.O., which Lewis himself founded in 1936.

The U.M.W., it was learned, will pass a resolution demanding that the C.I.O. repay it $1,600,000 which the U.M.W. loaned the C.I.O. in the days of the drives to organize steel and automobile workers. The U.M.W., which stopped paying dues to the C.I.O. in February, has been declared by the C.I.O. to be delinquent and not in good standing. But whether the miners will bolt now or put the question up to the C.I.O. convention in November depended on Lewis.

Delegates to the U.M.W., who wore convention badges bearing Lewis' picture, were puzzled over the future but it was apparent that they were ready to follow Lewis.

Big Drop In

State Traffic

By JOHN C. LOESER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—As a result of gasoline rationing, automobile traffic on the state roads of Pennsylvania fell off 38.2 per cent during August as compared with the same month a year ago, the public roads administration of the Federal Works Agency has announced.

The study of traffic on the state roads was made with automatic traffic recorders placed at 29 points on roads on the state.

As indicative of the near elimination of "pleasure" driving, the reports showed that August passenger car traffic on the Pennsylvania Turnpike fell off 67 per cent, although bus and truck traffic on that highway increased all per cent, as compared with August of a year ago.

To Find Color Of

Sky At Penn State

Experiment Planned To Decide

Reliability Of Untrained

Eye In Color Estimations

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 5.—Wanted: 1,000 sky-gazers. This was the request of Hans H. Neuberger, assistant professor of meteorology at the Pennsylvania State College, who is conducting a large-scale meteorological experiment.

Professor Neuberger is planning to use 1,000 students to estimate the shade of the sky blue. By this experiment, he expects to find out whether the eyes of the average untrained person can be used as a "measuring stick" in this type of meteorological studies.

The aerologist explained that if the large majority of untrained students can agree on the shade of sky blue during simultaneous observations, the usefulness of color estimations would be established as a meteorological tool.

Variations in the blueness of the sky are closely related to certain factors important to aviation, as for example, visibility of the ground from the air, as well as impending changes in weather, Professor Neuberger said.

By using a numerical scale of one to seven for the varying blue shades from a pale blue to a very dark blue, and relying upon the observer's color memory rather than upon expensive instruments, it will create an opportunity for large-scale observations of this kind to be statistically treated in the same way as other meteorological data, he pointed out.

Many people are taller in the morning than in the evening. During the course of a day the little cartilages between the vertebrae of the spinal column decrease in size because of the weight or pressure that is put on them.

Part of the iron chain used in the American Revolutionary war to bar the Hudson river at Anthony's Nose, was captured by the English in 1777 and sent to Gibraltar to protect shipping at the Moles.

Anything strange or foreign to the ancient Greeks was called "barbaros". This was for the simple reason that any unfamiliar tongue sounded to them like a succession of meaningless syllables, bar-bar-bar-bar. From this comes our word "barbarous".

College Employee Accused Of Luring Connecticut Girls To Brutal Crime

Whitford, police said, lured the girls to an abandoned cabin north of Stonington by offering them a lift in his automobile. After beating and attacking the elder girl he beat the younger girl and threatened to kill her if she revealed the crime, a direct parallel, police declared, of the recent sex slayings of the young Lynch sisters in nearby Westchester.

Police withheld names of the children.

Community Prepares For Scrap Drive

New Castle is getting scrap conscious. The full realization of the vital necessity of scrap steel to make war implements, along with scrap rubber, zinc, copper, bronze, lead and other metals is getting the folks roused up, and the scrap drive which starts October 10 is going to get results, or we don't know a piece of steel from a steam clam.

Ross D. Rosenberger, chairman of the salvage committee, and J. Lee McFate are already getting a lot of calls on scrap that has been unearthed. Folks who thought they had cleaned out their scrap in the spring are just beginning to realize that they only put out what was in the road. Scrap these days is anything you are not using.

Wide Variety of Articles

The list of articles being reported already runs from old muskets that grandpas used at Gettysburg, to iron frying pans that haven't been used for a while. It is all going into the scrap drive, and undoubtedly you are doing your share.

The announcement that the scrap is to be contributed by the citizens and the money from the sale in bulk is to be used in local U. S. O. work has met with a highly favorable response. As one citizen put it, "We're not only helping to keep the furnaces hot with the scrap we give, but we are providing money for use among service men. It's a swell idea."

Contributing the scrap will save the time of truck drivers who previously had to weigh it. This time you can dig out the scrap, put it on the curb the day the truck comes up your street, and the driver can pick it up. With him will be an accredited representative of the salvage committee, who will take the weight slips when it is weighed and see that the scrap is dumped into the community pile on the enclosed Pennsylvania Power lot. When it is all gathered, the pile will be sold.

Two days prior to the collection on your street you will be visited by one of the following groups of youngsters: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Junior Red Cross, Junior Commandos. They will hand you a pledge which you are asked to sign and then follow it up by digging out all the old scrap you can find.

Former Residents Get Jobless Claims

State Paid $28,000 In Benefits To Out-Of-State Group Last Month

Former Pennsylvania workers, now idle and residents of other states, obtained more than $28,000 in jobless benefits during September from this commonwealth's unemployment compensation fund, according to figures released today by the bureau of employment and unemployment compensation.

Applications for unemployment compensation benefits throughout the state during September fell 35 per cent under the August total, according to a report issued by the bureau of employment and unemployment compensation. However, a decline of less than 20 per cent was reflected in the number of compensable claims received during the past month.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—The Pennsylvania Department of Highways maintenance crews are being whittled down by high-paying industrial jobs. . . . Workers, who receive about 65 cents an hour, are deserting the department's forces to take jobs in war industries. . . . The situation has become so bad in Beaver and Westmoreland counties in Western Pennsylvania that the department has been forced to advertise for laborers. . . . Privately, officials expect the shortage will spread throughout the state as army inductions increase. . . . C. A. Buckius, deputy secretary, insists that Pennsylvania will continue to provide 100 per cent maintenance of the 40,522-mile road system as long as the necessary materials can be obtained under the priorities system.

Capitol personnel directors point out that the state employe shortage is a problem which has followed in the wake of every business boom.

When the depression swept Pennsylvania in the early 'thirties, state jobs were at a premium and there were thousands of unemployed worrying local political leaders with constant demands for indorsements which would enable them to bet on the state payroll. . . . However, as business recovered, the number of applicants decreased. . . . Now the state is finding it increasingly difficult to hire new workers. . . . Many vacancies have gone unfilled for months.

The Republican majority on the five-member public utility commission established something of a precedent when it issued a statement which implied a rebuke to Democratic Commissioner Richard J. Beamish. . . . Beamish stated that public transportation to sporting events should be banned for the war's duration. . . . He kicked up a nationwide furor that resulted two days later in the commission's action. . . . The implied rebuke was in the form of a "notice" announcing that the commission's transportation order did not bar fans from traveling to sports events by train, bus or plane.

Republican leaders are counting heavily on a swing away from Democratic policies sending Adjutant General Edward Martin to the governor's chair. . . . They point out that Auditor General F. Clair Ross, the Democratic candidate, does not have the advantage he held in 1940 and 1936 when President Roosevelt was also a candidate. . . . G.O.P. chieftains insist that the Republicans would have won in 1934 if Roosevelt hadn't given his blessing to George H. Earle, first Democratic governor to be elected in Pennsylvania in 40 years.

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Ten per cent of infants and children are allergic.

Allergy comes at any age and children do not outgrow it.

There may be, however, spontaneous loss of sensitivity.

If untreated, the allergic child usually continues to suffer.

This may affect the child's growth, health and personality.

He loses weight, becomes irritable and cannot sleep.

He misses school and cannot play with other children.

Later, he finds it difficult to learn a trade and get a job.

Untreated nasal allergies may result in polyps in the nose.

Often there are facial and dental deformities resulting.

Skin allergies lead to hard, callous-like growths.

Children with allergy can be benefited by proper treatment.

The Great Game Of Politics

It from hundreds of thousands who saw him, heard him or were told about him, was necessary for his security is altogether too thin to hold water. Anxious to cooperate to insure that security, nevertheless the newspapers almost unanimously point out that the sort of censorship imposed was wholly useless for that purpose. All it did was force the press into a futile conspiracy supposed to convince the people that the President was at his post of duty in Washington when a great many knew he was not.

IT IS gratifying that, at the end of the jaunt, the newspapers have so vigorously pointed out the phoniness of the excuse, the futility of the suppression and the peril of precedent. Also, it is heartening that they have so clearly noted the transparency of the Presidential idea that he could cover up, first, the fact that he should not have made the trip and, second, the mistake of preventing any mention of it for two weeks, by lecturing the Congress, the columnists, the radio commentators, some of the newspapers, upon their alleged sins and shortcomings. That may seem smart, but it isn't really smart. Certainly, it is not the kind of smartness that enhances respect.

THE TRUTH about this trip is that it should not have been taken. The excuse that the President wanted to get first-hand information as to what was being done is not valid. He could have gotten that information very fully in the White House, without risking his security, by leaving it on a 9,000-mile railway and automobile journey. Flitting through dozens of tank, plane and shell factories, ports, yards and camps got him no facts not available before he left. It couldn't. The truth is the trip was undertaken against the wish of the Secret Service and against the advice of his own aides. He wanted to go and he went.

AND HE did not want the trip fully reported to the public and so he muzzled the press and took steps to see that nothing was printed until after his return and then only what he approved. What this all adds up to is that it was not permitted to give the people news to which they were entitled and the newspapers, without good reason, were compelled to do a dishonest thing in suppressing it. It was a misuse of power that could not be justified on the score of the President's security. To that end the newspapers would have cooperated fully, but this censorship went far beyond that. As to whether a disservice was done the national interests by the President's two weeks' absence, two points are made.

ONE IS that had he been in the White House the last two weeks, by "putting the heat on" in the Senate he could have gotten a much sounder anti-inflation bill than the one he signed on Friday. His absence left his leaders without support and the farm bloc, by a close vote, had its way. As a result, inflation will be much harder to control than before and the cost to the country large. The other point is that, while many people knew about the trip, a vast number did not. Suppression of the news gives them the idea that they were tricked, fooled, "bamboozled." This, it is argued, is calculated to diminish confidence in the Government. It is likely to lead many to believe that things they ought to know are being kept from them by the Administration and the press. It lessens confidence in what they read and hear. If now they are told that Mr. Roosevelt is in the White House they do not know whether it is true or not. Mr. Roosevelt may think this is funny. But the newspapers do not think it funny—not by a long shot. Nor will it be considered funny by intelligent people anywhere who want—and are entitled to have—all the accurate information not in conflict with our military aims or affecting the safety of our leaders.

What's What At A Glance

Chamber, the National Association of Manufacturers and our whole brood of government economists are trying to prevent, in advance, this time.

The fact that crashes and depressions, after temporary booms, have afflicted the belligerents in all past wars, including the 1914-18 affair, doesn't prove anything as to the present, for prevention never was attempted before. Economists, in those days, hadn't had experience enough to forecast the future. In the current instance they're doing it, remembering 1914-18 and its sequel. The trouble with today's would-be preventatives is that they never have been tested, either.

Will they prove effective?

Hopes High, But—

The economists themselves don't know yet. They're hopeful, but they're not betting any of their own good money. They PROMISE copiously, but, at best, they're simply guessing and, now and then, you meet one who's candid enough to admit it.

It'll be interesting to live for a few years after this war ends, and see what's happened. That'll be long enough to have lived—and desirable to expire directly the crash has receded itself, without waiting for the ensuing depression. If the crash hasn't crashed, though, there will be no objection to waiting a few more years, for further observation.

Personally, if I had to make my choice right now, I wouldn't bother to do any further waiting.

Not being an economist, I'm a pessimist.

Even the United States Chamber doesn't prophesy continued good times on into indefinite history. It says no more than that we're due to have a spell of 'em after peace is re-established, if we're thrifty and judicious in the meantime.

Nevertheless, we're due for a fairly livable interlude before the next crash's arrival, if we lick Herr Hitler and the Mikado. Benito not signing.

And an interlude's SOMETHING.

SALVAGE DEAD ANIMALS FOR WAR-NEEDED FATS

Don't bury or burn Old Dobbin when he dies. Fats are needed in waging war, and dead animals are not only an excellent source of fat, but also of glue, neat's foot oil, fertilizer, poultry feed, and other products.

Farmers who have dead animals should get in touch with the rendering plants in their locality.

Renderers in some parts of the country specializing in the collection of dead animals feel that considerable quantities of recoverable fat are being wasted in rural areas because animals are not disposed of through rendering plants. Indicative of the waste is the report of a trucker to the general salvage section of the War Production Board stating that on a 70-mile trip in a southern state he saw a number of hogs killed by automobiles lying on the side of the highway in a decayed condition. These dead animals would have yielded a considerable quantity of fat if they had been handled by a rendering plant, the trucker pointed out.

The War Production Board stresses the fact that a nation at war needs an adequate supply of fats. German resistance in the first World War was undermined by the cutting of Germany's normal supply of fats by the British blockade. Determined that such a shortage should not again hamper them, the Nazis started a fat salvage program as far back as 1937. Animal carcasses of all kinds were boiled to render fats. Conservation was strictly enforced, and up to the present at least, lack of fats has not been reported as a vulnerable point in the Nazi war machine.

FARMERS WARNED TO AVOID UNREASONABLE LAND VALUES

Land values can be kept steady during this war if the lessons of the boom after the first World War—and the hard times for farmers that followed when the bottom dropped out—are not forgotten. It has taken nearly a quarter of

(7) defective and improperly installed stoves and furnaces, (8) faulty wiring and misuse of electric appliances. These cause 85 per cent of the total losses from farm fires.

A chimney that becomes too hot to hold one's hand against should be carefully inspected and repaired by a reliable mason, as suggested in "Instructions for Making a Farm Fire Inspection" which may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

Properly installed and well-maintained lightning rods on farm buildings are practically 100 per cent effective in preventing damage from lightning.

The need of thoroughly curing all hay may also be emphasized. Under-cured or damp hay when stored in large piles heats spontaneously. This heating may continue until the ignition temperature is reached and the hay bursts into flame. Even though a fire does not occur, heating destroys much of the feeding value. Alfalfa, clover and soybean hays are likely to heat severely.

Even though hay has been well cured before storage, it will heat if it is wet by rain coming through a leaky roof or by floodwaters. Frequent examinations should be made for several weeks after storing.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN TURKEY CROP NOTED

An increase of 1 per cent in this year's turkey crop over that of last year is reported by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics. In February intentions of growers indicated an increase of 8 per cent. There are several reasons for the decrease.

1. Cold, wet weather and floods in some of the large producing areas. These reduced egg production, caused poor fertility, and higher mortality among poult.

2. The scarcity of labor and high prices of poultry reduced poult purchases, and because of labor shortages some hatcheries closed earlier than usual.

3. On some farms brooding mortality was higher, because of crowding brought about by use of some brooding facilities for the raising of more chickens.

These factors were most noticeable in the large producing area of the West North Central states, where the crop is 2 per cent smaller than in 1941.

The North Atlantic states, the 1942 crop is 8 per cent larger than last year's crop, and 1 per cent larger than the report of intentions given in February. Growing conditions in this section were considered about normal.

Other areas report as follows: East Central states, 6 per cent increase; South Atlantic states, 12 per cent increase; South Central states, about the same; and Far West, about the same as 1941.

It is estimated that 54.4 per cent of the crop will be moved to market by November and earlier, compared to 48.3 per cent in 1941. About 35.3 per cent will be ready for the Christmas and New Year markets, compared to 38.9 per cent for 1941, while 10.3 per cent will be marketed after the first of the year.

Because of the active late summer and early fall demand, many Pennsylvania growers are moving their early hatched turkeys to market earlier than usual. Some Pennsylvania young toms and pullets began to move to market in July.

TREAT PEACH TREES NOW TO KILL BORES

Peach trees should be treated with paradichlorobenzene crystals as soon as possible in order to kill the peach tree borer. This material changes into a gas while the soil is warm.

Putting off the work until late season when the ground is cold results in little if any killing of the borers, since the crystals volatilize only at the higher soil temperatures.

Peach tree borer control is described in a mimeographed circular which may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Association Office, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

Volunteer Trucks Asked For Drive

Truck Operators To Meet Tuesday Night To Plan For Scrap Collection Here

Unlike the previous scrapdrive held in New Castle, the one to start here October 10 will use volunteer trucks, just as the scrap is to be a voluntary gift of the people.

The Salvage Committee has asked J. Fred Clarke, president of the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association to aid in procuring sufficient trucks for the scrap drive and Mr. Clarke has called a meeting for Tuesday in the Castleton at 8 o'clock.

All truck operators are asked to be present. This is not a PMTA meeting but a meeting of all truck operators in New Castle. With sufficient trucks volunteered Mr. Clarke believes the scrap could be cleaned up in a short time. He urges every operator to attend the meeting.

Crops Harvested By Student Volunteers

(Special To The News) MERCER, Pa., Oct. 5.—The demand for additional labor in harvesting various crops is being satisfied in part by the response of student volunteer service from Mercer high school. A plan for this service was drawn up and completed.

As yet, there have not been many requests made directly to the high school. All employers who are in dire need of additional help for harvesting of seasonal crops should direct their request in writing or in person to B. K. Horner, supervisor of vocational agriculture at the Mercer high school building. This cooperative plan refers to employers and students around the town of Mercer.

This work is open to all students boys and girls of Mercer high school at a fair rate of pay. All able bodied girls and boys of the town and country areas are urged to volunteer their services with the consent of their parents.

Immediate cooperative action is necessary on the part of all employers and student volunteer workers, in registering by seeing Horner at the school building. Assignments must be made at least one day before the work can be done.

H. A. Kral, supervising principal of the Mercer school, is in charge of granting the permits.

Mrs. O'Leary's Cow Exonerated At Last

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Mrs. O'Leary's cow, which according to legend started the great Chicago fire of 1871 by kicking over a lighted lantern in the O'Leary barn, received unanimous exoneration today from members of the Retired Firemen's Association of Chicago.

Here is the testimony of John Dooley, president of the association: "The poor O'Learys were persecuted until the end of their days. But the fact is that it wasn't the cow that was responsible for the fire. Bums drinking and smoking in the barn were the ones who started the fire—not the cow."

The retired firemen, who were only youngsters at the time of the fire, held their annual meeting to mark the opening of Fire Prevention Week.

A. F. Of L. Meets To Decide Upon War Program

(International News Service) TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 5.—With "all-out for victory" in the war as its keynote, the 62nd annual convention of the American Federation of Labor assembled in Toronto today with about 600 delegates from the United States and Canada in attendance.

The "most momentous" convention in the history of the AFL was the way William Green, its president, characterized it. Green said he expects the two-week convention to do a number of things, including:

1.—To take a firm, uncompromising stand against any strikes as long as the war lasts.

2.—To vote full support to President Roosevelt in his efforts to stabilize the cost of living.

3.—To serve notice on the world that the AFL "unflinchingly" will postpone and put aside for the duration many of its long standing program for social and economic reform.

Green said the delegates are "uplifted" by the realization that the workers in the United States and Canada are still free. He said this convention is "a living symbol of this fact."

"Wool gathering," in current use and meaning, derives from an old English country custom. It was a habit of the dull-witted, unable to learn a skilled trade, to make their living by selling tufts of wool which they gathered off barbed wire, hedges or brambles.

We can't tax tax-free bonds because that would violate a contract. Didn't we violate a few when we quit the gold standard?

ROPP-SHEELER DATE SET FOR OCTOBER 10

At a lovely party given Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cowher on Delaware avenue, Miss Elizabeth Ropp and Woodrow Cowher whose engagement was recently announced, shared honors at a kitchen shower which too, provided a medium of announcing their wedding date, October 10.

The early hours were whiled away with a series of events, with prizes going to Mrs. Wylie Wallace and Howard Sheeler. The latter aided the hostess in serving a tasty repast afterwards, with the nuptial motif predominating in the appointments.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Ropp of New Bedford, and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cowher of the Youngstown road. They will be united in an 'open church' ceremony on Saturday night, October 10, at the Hopewell Presbyterian church in New Bedford, at 8:15 o'clock.

Missionary Society

Members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Christian church were entertained at a guests tea Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. S. Bennett, Moody avenue. Mrs. Frank Douds was in charge of devotions and Mrs. Esther Aiken conducted the program. Mrs. J. R. Mitchell favored with a solo, and Rev. Sidney K. Bliss gave an interesting talk on India.

Tea and cakes were served later, Mrs. G. S. Bennett pouring.

November 6 is the date for the next meeting.

Home from Honeymoon

"We have had information upon some of these places for months," said Mr. Newell, "in one case we have had the place under surveillance for a year, waiting for an opportunity to close in on them. The raid Saturday night was an excellent piece of co-operation upon the part of all the law enforcing bodies. Corporal Doolan of the state motor police, Chief Willie G. McMullen of the city police, Sheriff Clyde D. Badger and County Detective Charles D. Ross all co-operated in a fine manner."

area was made only at the cost of heavy losses, the high command pointed out.

"Northwest of Stalingrad," the communists said, "our troops in one sector improved their positions."

Repel Tank Attacks
The high command said that heavy German tank and infantry attacks in the mid-Caucasus area around Moxdok also had been repelled.

"An enemy thrust toward a mountain pass was frustrated," it was added.

Apparently abandoning hope that Stalingrad soon could be subdued, Nazi commanders redoubled their efforts in the Caucasus.

The fighting gained in intensity in the mid-Caucasus battle zone as the Germans brought up reserves in an attempt to smash through to the Grozny oil fields from the Moxdok area.

The Red army newspaper Red Star said that wide expanses of forests in the Caucasus were aflame and that the fires had been blazing for several days and nights.

"The roar of German guns never ceases," Red Star said.

Intense Engagements
Throughout yesterday intense engagements were fought all about beleaguered Stalingrad, with the Soviets maintaining the upper hand.

The Red army high command said that the Germans launched incessant tank and infantry attacks against the Soviet positions, but all were repulsed.

Two battalions of Nazi infantry launched six consecutive assaults against one Soviet unit, but lost 200 men and gave up the fight.

Northwest of the city the Russians continued their offensive to sap the strength of the Nazi siege forces and disrupt the enemy lines of communication.

"In fighting for one height 150 Germans were killed," an official communique said.

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, reported the recapture of a portion of a workers' settlement in the northern outskirts which the Nazis entered a few days ago during a drive to strike across the city to the banks of the Volga.

Soviet forces driving down from the north to aid their besieged comrades seized several trench positions formerly held by the Nazis, while Marshal Timoshenko's armies south of the metropolis crushed repeated German counter-attacks launched in an effort to regain territory from which they were ousted.

west and in Alaska where there was little law and that he had never seen conditions such as we have here on a Saturday night on some parts of West Washington street."

Blames Control Board
Rev. Thornton scored the Liquor Control Board for permitting 59 licensed places in the City of New Castle when there are less than 48,000 people here, which would permit only 48 licenses.

He charged that many licensees now in business should not have been given licenses. He also said that many of them were foreign born. Referring to people of foreign birth he said that he also was of foreign birth and that he believed that any person given citizenship in this country owes the country full obedience to the law.

"Some women came to me recently," said Rev. Thornton and complained that while they waited on buses at the corner of Mercer and Washington streets they were annoyed by drunken men coming from a nearby saloon. He made reference to a case recently in a West Washington street cafe where a man died of a fractured skull, after having been ejected from the cafe. "The waitress and the bartender skipped town after the accident," said Rev. Thornton.

He also referred to a recent accident in which a child met death after being hit by an automobile. "The father of the child was in his car across the road," said Rev. Thornton, "dead drunk. Nothing was done to him because he was not actually driving the car at the time."

Police Hands Tied
"I asked city officials and police what could be done," said Rev. Thornton, "and they replied, our hands are tied. Who tied their hands? I'll tell you. The booze men. They did it by buying up legislators in Harrisburg and Washington and making it impossible for local officers to go into saloons unless they are asked by the proprietor. Fat chance of any of them inviting an officer in."

Rev. Thornton promised that he would continue the fight to improve conditions here.

Assisting in the service were pastors of the other five churches co-operating in the meeting. Rev. R. B. McKnight, D. D., pastor of First Methodist introduced Rev. Thornton. Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of First Christian made the opening prayer. Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, pastor of First Baptist read the scripture lesson. Rev. John J. McIlvaine, D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian church made the closing prayer and Rev. R. M. Patterson, D. D., pastor of Central Presbyterian church pronounced the benediction.

Special music was presented by the First Methodist quartet with Edwin Lewis at the organ. Iwas Mr. Lewis' last night at the console of First Methodist for some time. Today he left for New Cumberland, Pa., for services in the United States Army.

Sufficient Nitrogen To Fertilize Orchards; Other News Of Farms

By WILLIAM BROCKMAN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—Although nitrogen is used in making munitions, there will be a sufficient amount available to fertilize Pennsylvania's orchards. This good news was issued by specialists at Pennsylvania State College, who claim that the 1943 fruit crop will be as productive as usual if orchards are carefully planned and managed. Recommendations for conservative use of nitrogenous fertilizers are being drafted at the college, while methods for the production of peaches and apples with a minimum of commercial nitrogen have already been devised.

The honey bee's best, it appears, was not good enough. Despite a 15 per cent increase in the number of bee colonies, Pennsylvania's 1942 honey production is expected to be only two-thirds that of last year. Wholesale prices for the product, however, have practically doubled, the department of agriculture pointed out. It is estimated that total production this year will be 4,510,000 pounds compared with 7,120,000 pounds in 1941. "Cool, cloudy weather and frequent rains made bees rather inactive and nectaries were not well filled," the department asserted in explaining the sharp drop.

"How do you think I shall live and buy war stamps?" This question was addressed to the department of agriculture by a Pennsylvania farmer, who revealed an economic problem confronting many agricultural workers. "I took a load of domestic cabbage to Philadelphia consisting of 165 50-pound bags," he wrote. "It was sold on Dock street at 25 cents per bag. The bag cost ten cents. The commission was two and one-half cents. So I had a profit of two and one-half cents a bag for growing the cabbage. How do you think I shall live and buy war stamps?"

The flow of milk from Pennsylvania farms continues to top previous averages. Production per cow on September 1 averaged 18.3 pounds, the highest figure for that date on record, the federal-state crop reporting service revealed. Seasonal decline in production per cow from August to September was much less than usual, it was also reported. This was due in large part to the excellent condition of pastures which yielded six per cent more feed at the beginning of the month than a year earlier.

"Act now to control the corn borer." The department of agriculture warns all Pennsylvania farmers, particularly those in affected areas. Destroy all refuse on which the borer exists and plow under during the fall all corn stubbles, the department urged. Surveys into problems arising from the borer's prevalence are planned by the bureau of plant industry and will be carried out in Erie, Crawford, Armstrong, Indiana, Westmoreland, Centre, Lebanon, Berks, Bucks, Montgomery, Lehigh and Northampton counties.

SEVENTH WARD

Novena Starts At St. Lucy's

Parishoners To Assist At Novena For Our Soldiers This Evening At Church

In preparation for the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, a novena will start in St. Lucy's church this evening, with Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito in charge. It will continue until the feast of the Immaculate Conception on December 8.

Services will commence at 7:30 o'clock and include the devotions of the miraculous medal, and intentions of this novena will be to ask the Blessed Virgin Mary for the protection of our soldiers in the armed forces.

Special prayers will be ready by the congregations, for those in active services, and following will be the hymn of Our Lady of Victory.

Those attending church will also note the new front of the church, that was rebuilt to accommodate parishioners. Previously the steps leading to the church were on the outside of the church vestibule and in winter time proved hazardous to those attending church. A new, well lighted vestibule has been built and now the church steps are in the inside, and there is no need to worry about slippery, icy steps this winter.

The topic of the evening, "Alaska and India," was in charge of Mrs. W. C. Leicht and Mrs. G. H. Cook, followed by discussion.

During the business session, a number of members planned to attend the district meeting of the Presbyterian at Slippery Rock Presbyterian church, October 14.

The boxes of clothing for the southern mission will be packed on Wednesday afternoon, and donations will be received at the church or at the home of Mrs. G. H. Cook, Newell avenue.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, which was followed by a social period.

The date and place of next meeting to be a threen dinner, will be announced later.

Linotype Machine Joins Scrap Heap

(International News Service)
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 5.—Val Pater's 2,400-pound linotype machine today was headed for the scrap heap.

For years, said Peter, publisher of the Omaha Daily Tribune and six other German language newspapers in many cities, the machine has been turning out news and opinions for good Germans.

Now, he added, he hoped it would speak a language the Nazis could understand.

Peter said he had offers from publishers who wished to buy the machine, but he thought it would do more good as war material.

News Briefs From City Hall

Police attempted to raid an open card game in Division street vicinity yesterday afternoon and of the crowd police accused two persons of being among those present at the Galloping Domino affair. Both placed forfeits of $5.00, each but one of the young men said he was not there and was arrested while walking in the vicinity of the raid and was gathered in. He was allowed his freedom until Tuesday when the arresting officers will be quizzed as to the circumstances of his arrest.

The person who placed the $5.00 forfeit and failed to appear gave the name of Frank Orzo.

City police recovered the auto owned by Edward Sullivan, Croton avenue, which was reportedly stolen from Cochran Way. The car was found in Grant street Sunday. The police also found two bicycles parked near the Pennsylvania Power Company lot south of East Washington street. However, two Edenburg persons had wheeled the "bikes" here and were given their means of transportation.

Complaint was made by Glass street residents to city council today because of autoists allegedly playing radios and making noise late at night and early in the morning while awaiting Shenango Pottery employees. Mayor Charles B. Mayne told the complainants to report the matter directly to Chief of Police W. G. McMullen or a police sergeant and the matter would be attended to quickly. The men also complained that the autos were breaking down the sidewalk.

Specialists Heed Army Call Here

Enlistment Progressing; New Branches Open To Young Recruits

Fifty New Castle district craftsmen have joined the army as specialists at the local recruiting station since the Public Square rally in behalf of the specialists' drive a week ago, Sergt. John T. Bilpuch reported today.

He said it is probable other new Castle men have enlisted at Pittsburgh.

Sergt. Bilpuch today called for specialists for direct assignment to Camp Claiborne in Louisiana. Army headquarters sent here an order for recruits for 15 specialist classifications, and stressed that this particular procurement order should be completed by November 30.

The office also revealed that 13 army branches are now open to 18 and 19-year-old youths who enlist. Heretofore, only eight branches were open.

The new branches in which the younger group may sign up include the quartermaster, ordnance, chemical warfare, medical corps and military police divisions.

Schwab Estate Is Sold To College

Mansion At Loretto Brings $57,750; Bulk For College Of St. Francis

(International News Service)
LORETTA, Pa., Oct. 5.—The palatial, $3,000,000 estate that the late Charles M. Schwab built for his wife atop the Allegheny mountains here was in the hands of new owners today, at a total cost of $57,750.

St. Francis college, which the steel magnate also helped build, bought the bulk of the property at an auction sale Saturday, while private buyers chipped the estate into fragments with small parcels. The college got the 26-room mansion, the golf course, much of the farm-land, vast greenhouses, the main buildings and other items for $32,400.

The college itself did not buy the magnificent estate, which was noted for its scenic beauty. A group of Western Pennsylvania businessmen who banded themselves together as the "friends of St. Francis" raised the necessary funds and made the purchase.

Cardinal Triumph Ends Series Today

Baseball's Dead End Kids Spill Yanks, 9-6; Lead By 3-1 Edge

CLOSE TO 70,000 SEE TIFF SUNDAY

Mort Cooper Blasted Again; Ruffing Is Yankees' Hope Today

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Dead End Kids of baseball, St. Louis' never-say-die Cardinals hope to close the coffin on the world champion New York Yankees 1942 world series hopes here today and if they continue to outthrust the Bombers in the clutch—as they have to date—they are a cinch.

Just take a peek at the following review of the first four games and you think you'll see what the men of Mons. J. McCarthy are up against. The Yankees outthrust the Cards in three of the first four battles but lost three of them!

Make Hits Count
Why? Well, buddy, the Cards got five hits in the opener and scored four runs in dropping into Charlie Ruffing. From there on they collected six in the second contest, bunched five of them for all their four runs; got only five in the third contest but bunched three of them for their only two runs and bunched nine of their 12 safeties yesterday for all their tallies as they whipped New York, 9 to 6!

Even old man Henry Kaiser, a fair hand at getting things done, couldn't improve on that production and it's the money hits and their blazing speed on the base-paths plus a couple of good pitching jobs that have the kids on top 3 to 1 as freshman Johnny Beazley goes against the veteran Ruffing in game No. 5 this afternoon.

The Yankees, hanging on to a thread of confidence even though they are on suicide street, and can't make a single mistake, still have

Maybe It Does

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—In the Yankee clubhouse, a sign reads: "Train to St. Louis leaves at 3 p. m. Monday." Maybe it does, so far as the Yanks are concerned.

the bookmakers at least in their corner. Because Ruffing, who tamed the Cards for 7 and 2-3 innings without a hit in the opener will be out on the hill today. They are 7 to 5 favorites to win today's contest.

In our opinion young Mr. Beazley, who really showed the Cardinals something in the eighth inning of the second game, will take care of the Bombers for the second straight time today and accomplish two very important objectives.

He will not only end the reign of terror the Yankees have imposed on the National league since 1925 (when the same Cards won the last series taken from New York) but will also ease the minds of Comm. Landis and the players of both clubs who have been worrying about transportation facilities back to old St. Louis.

As you might have heard the ODT does not wish to encourage chartered cars, special trains, etc. for any purpose whatsoever. Though the Yank officials have been promised accommodations by dear old Grand Central R. Y. You couldn't tell to look at some of the boys in the clubhouse following their third straight set-back by the youthful Card upstarts, whether they relished another 24 hour train trip, or not.

Yanks Are Blue
The club was really down. They had gotten off in front in the first inning yesterday, 1 to 0, when Red Rolfe doubled and scored on Roy Cullenbine's single to left, only to have Hank Borow, making his first start, blow up in the fourth inning when six Card hits were good for a 6 to 1 lead.

Stan Musial started it with a safe bunt down the third base line and W. Cooper singled to center. The latter took third on DiMaggio's throw to that bag trying to get Stan. Hopp then walked, filling the bags and Kuroski's single to left was good for two runs. Marion walked again filling the bags and when Mort Cooper dropped a Texas

County Class B Race Will Start Friday Afternoon

Bessemer-Union Play At Bessemer Friday; Shenango Host To Freedom

Opening of Lawrence county's annual Class B scramble highlights this week's piskin parade.

The league affair pits Bessemer's undefeated roller against Union Township high on Bessemer field. Friday afternoon. Only a 6-6 tie with Class AA Erie East to spoil an otherwise perfect slate. Bessemer is a heavy favorite to push aside the first of two barriers which separate the "Cementers" from the crown.

Of more than passing interest is Shenango Township's date with Freedom high on Shenango field Friday afternoon. Coach Eddie Nahas, who slipped into the tutoring seat on a minute's notice, is doing an excellent job.

His teams have made a creditable showing thus far. Whipped by Evans City, Shenango smashed Zellenople, 18-0, and earned a 6-6 draw with a big Hopewell machine.

Ellwood City, back on the winning side, journeyed to Monaca Friday in what should be a scrappy session.

New Castle entertains Farrell Friday night and Westminster has Hiram for its Homecoming Day foe Saturday afternoon, completing a colorful week-end schedule.

PENNSY ELEVENS COP MAJOR TILTS

Pitt Shows Surprising Strength To Down S. M. U.; Penn Displays Savvy, Power

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
(International News Service)
Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 5.—Pittsburgh's hard-fighting, quick-thinking collegiate gridsters this week-end turned over a new leaf to come up with some major victories which smacked distinctly of upsets.

Pitt's ruthless panthers clawed their way to a surprising 20 to 7 victory over Southern Methodist's highly favored Mustangs in tactics reminiscent of the days when they were known as the "Powerhouse Gang". The Panthers scored their first touchdown within three minutes of the kickoff, and then smashed over two more in the third period. In desperation SMU took the air and finally collected its one, lone tally in the final quarter.

At Cambridge, the red and blue of Penn, under brilliant generalship of Bert Stiff, who personally accounted for two touchdowns, showed they intended to hang onto that Ivy league championship by trimming puzzled Harvard, 19 to 7. It was Penn's 12th triumph in the 61-year-old series.

Stiff pressured his teammates to victory in the first half, and the Crimson tally came on a pass close to the end of the game.

Duquesne's still-undefeated Dukes crushed Holy Cross to the pitiful tune of 25 to 0 to hang up their 15th consecutive victory in the past two years and their second straight against the Worcester, Mass., team.

Carnegie Tech avenged last week's 26 to 0 shellacking at the hands of tiny Geneva by invading New Castle and beating Westminster to the identical 26-0 score.

State Wins, 14-7
But all of Pennsylvania's teams did not fare so well. At West Point, Army defeated Lafayette 14 to 0 in the Cadet's opener, and Yale uncorked a last half scoring attack to trounce Lehigh, 33 to 6, after being held 6 to 6 for half of the game. It was Howie Odell's debut as the Bulldogs' coach.

Penn State's Sparky Brown scrambled 79 yards in a third period broken field run which broke a 7 to 7 tie and gave the final nod to the home team, 14 to 7. Bucknell displayed surprising power and collected its lone touchdown in the opening quarter before the dizzy opposition could collect itself for determined defense.

In the Philadelphia area, Delaware rang up a 40 to 0 win over a hapless Drexel Tech squad and BMC took Hartwick to the cleaners, 40 to 7.

Haveford had a field day at the expense of Allegheny, winning 33-0. After being held scoreless in the first quarter, Franklin and Marshall got rolling against Fort Hamilton and didn't stop until the final score was 59 to 0.

At New York, Muhlenberg fell before the powerful onslaughts of Manhattan, 27 to 7, and at Grove City the local boys missed a conversion and lost their tilt with Hiram, 7 to 6.

Gettysburg took over Western Maryland, 20 to 10, and Indiana Teachers beat Slippery Rock Teachers, 14 to 0.

Pitching summary—Borow, 6 hits, 6 runs in 3 innings none out in fourth; off M. Cooper, 7 hits, 5 runs in 5 1/3 innings; off Donald, 3 hits, 2 runs in 3 innings; none out in seventh; off Gumbert, 1 hit, 1 run in 1 1/3 innings; off Bonham, 3 hits, 1 run in 3 innings; off Pollet, 0 hits, 0 runs in 1-3 innings; off Lanier, 2 hits, 0 runs in 3 innings. Winning pitcher—Lanier. Losing pitcher—Donald.

RAY MIDGETS SCORE 24-12 FOOTBALL WIN

In a hotly contested gridiron battle the Ray Midget Stars walked off with a 24-12 victory over the Barregeon Tigers.

Charles Farris invaded touchdown terrain twice, and Joe Farris and Ernest Abraham tallied once apiece for the winners. Tom Cragel and Bob McConnell scored for the losers.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Monday wash—

On the heels of any sports upheaval, its customary for a para-grapher to shove in his annotation. They tell me that a lot of readers expect it. On these grounds, this Monday morning quarterback will pass along his observation and forget all about the Sharon-New Castle lulu.

I think its simple to explain what happened New Castle played its ball game in the first half. Sharon, on the other hand, played its hand-incomitably after the recess ceremony. That's how it looked to me from the press den. The statistics seem to tell an identical story.

Tony DiMatteo, who got his name in all the papers by racing 98 yards for a touchdown against Minnesota, is a local product. The Pitt griddler reportedly was born on Division street.

Ellwood City Wins, Ties Moose Clubbers

Socials Gain 1-0 Edge In City Baseball League Series Sunday Afternoon

Helping themselves to 11 errors, the Ellwood City Socials defeated the Moose, 11-8, in the first game of the City Baseball league championship series Sunday afternoon on Marshall field, Scott street.

In the second end of the bill, the rivals battled to a 3-3 deadlock. At the end of seven frames, the clash was halted due to darkness.

The rivals resume the series next Sunday afternoon at Ellwood City, playing another double header.

Lions Dismiss "Bill" Edwards

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Oct. 5.—William "Bill" Edwards was dismissed today as head football coach of the Detroit Lions pro team and replaced by John "Bull" Karsch, who has been serving as a backfield coach.

The announcement of Edwards' dismissal was made by Owner Fred L. Mandel Jr. after the Lions dropped a 28 to 7 decision to the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was the Lions third straight loss this year.

Pro Results

NATIONAL PROFESSIONAL
Chicago Bears 21, Cleveland Rams 7.
Brooklyn Dodgers 28, Detroit Lions 7.
Pittsburgh Steelers 13, New York Giants 10.
Washington Redskins 14, Philadelphia Eagles 10.

THAT'S SOMETHING
The White Sox of 1942 were not highly potent. Nevertheless they were good enough to whip the Yanks in two double headers.

RATHER ODD
Hermon Schneiderman was graduated from Iowa eight years ago, but may play the Great Lakes team this year.

EX-BLOCKER
Mike Saban, 172-pound Indiana guard, formerly was a blocking back. His older brother, Lou, is Indiana's regular blocker.

MERCER CHILDRENS' HOME INGATHERING

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Pa., Oct. 5.—The annual ingathering of the Mercer Childrens Home will be held October 16. Those interested in aiding the orphan children, cared for by this institution are asked to donate canned fruits, vegetables and groceries. Many communities in the county have donations in the schools.

The home on West Market street is supported by public gifts and sponsored by the Childrens Aid Society of Mercer County and has an enrollment of 23 at the present time. The capacity of the home is 30 children. Due to the rise in food prices, donations are needed worse this year than before.

Booby "General" Lee, who won the plaudits of the crowd with one of the finest one-man performances ever seen in Sharon, sustained a left shoulder injury and a bruise along his left leg. Russ Currie is still suffering with a left knee ailment. John Zukowsky, whose left elbow was treated in between halves, was reported showing improvement. Jesse Gumm hurt his left eye. Pete Tedesko is troubled by a back injury. Practically every member of the line was bruised, more so than usual.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will probably refrain from scrimmage for the second consecutive week, due to squad's condition. New Castle can expect another stiff session. Farrell welloped Sharpless, 48-0, and looked unusually smooth. All the incentive that opposing teams dig up for a New Castle eleven, and you know what confronts the Canes.

Jockey Injured

Jimmy Thornburg, 17-year-old apprentice jockey who rode 27 winners at the recent Havre de Grace meeting, is in serious condition in a Laurel, Md. hospital after suffering injuries in a four-horse spill at the Laurel track. Thornburg fell under his mount, Tiny Trick which broke a leg and was destroyed.

Gophers To Play Illinois Saturday

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 5.—Dr. George Hauser, coach of Minnesota who will bring the Gophers to the Illinois stadium for the October 10 homecoming game, played against the Illinois three times.

Hauser, a tackle, participated in the 6-6 tie the Gophers and Illinois played on Illinois field in 1915, which also tied the two teams for the championship.

Hauser again played at Minneapolis in 1916 when the underdog Illinois won, 14 to 9, in what is still considered by many to be the greatest upset in the history of football.

Dr. Hauser captained the Gophers in 1917 when they defeated Illinois on Illinois field, 27 to 6.

Hazards Win From J. B. Eagles, 8 To 7

Hazards, 1941 day turn Johnson Bronze league champions, defeated the Eagles, Sunday, by an 8-7 margin and will play the night turn league champions as soon as the game can be arranged. In one of the matches, Bukowski, co-county champion, who led the Eagles, clinched with Nick Mitlo and he won 2 and 1.

Battered 'Canes Limp To Taggart Stadium To Gird For Next Foe

Badly battered in Friday's Sharon lulu, New Castle high's grid forces limo to Taggart stadium today to start preparing for Friday night's home assignment against Farrell high.

John Zukowsky, whose left elbow was treated in between halves, was reported showing improvement. Jesse Gumm hurt his left eye. Pete Tedesko is troubled by a back injury. Practically every member of the line was bruised, more so than usual.

Gophers Are Rated No. 1 Rah-Rah Team

Despite 7-6 Loss To Cadets, Minnesota Tops; Michigan In Second Spot

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—A hasty realignment of football leadership was in order for the Middle West today following Saturday's fiercely contested games.

Although only two western conference teams have engaged each other in competition the relative strength of the western conference elevens seem to shape up as follows:

(1) Minnesota, (2) Michigan, (3) Wisconsin, (4) Ohio State, (5) Northwestern, (6) Indiana, (7) Illinois, (8) Iowa, (9) Purdue.

The Golden Gophers of Minnesota, a 7 to 6 verdict to the Iowa City Seahawks Saturday, but they have not lost any of their gridiron prestige. Lt. Con. Bernie Bierman's Seahawks can safely be rated as one of the strongest teams—if not the strongest—in the country, but bad breaks had about as much to do with the Gophers' defeat as the playing of their opponents.

Kuzma Still Out
Without Tommy Kuzma, of Gary, Ind., in the lineup Michigan has rolled to 9 to 0 and 20 to 0 wins over the Great Lakes and Michigan State teams, respectively. When Kuzma returns to the lineup, Coach Fritz Crisler's Wolverines will be something to be reckoned with when big ten titles are up for discussion.

Although beaten 32 to 21 by Ohio State last Saturday, Coach Bo McMillin's Indiana university eleven still is far from being a "weak sister" of the big ten. The Ohio State-Indiana game was simply a touchdown battle with the Hoosiers being worn down by sheer force.

On a cutback through tackle Pash picked up six. He then carried to the 15 for a first down. A penalty against Westminster for offside and center of the line move the ball to the 25.

Pash on two attempts off tackle was good for nine. McLaughlin made the necessary yard for another first down. Philpuk on a reverse picked up seven. Cantini and Pash alternated to carry the piskin to Westminster's 45. Pash on a quick opening play through center, bloughed to the 35, and short backs Pash, Cantini, and Fritz moved the ball to the 24 as the third quarter ended.

Westminster was offside on the first play of the final period and penalized to the 220. Three plays netted four yards, and Evanoff Tech. dominated the defense throughout. In the final period, local's defense collapsed and Carnegie Tech hit paydirt three times. Westminster got a break when Pash fumbled on the first play after the kickoff and Mastro recovered, but they failed to capitalize. Newton put the visitors in the hole when he punned out on the 45-yard line, but at this point the Tartan offense started rolling and moved 80 yards to the Tartan 16 before the locals stopped the drive.

Carnegie Tech Wins Contest At Stadium From Westminster 26-0

What started out as an evenly-matched grid battle turned into a rout in the final quarter as an unstoppable Carnegie Tech offense rode roughshod over a stubborn Westminster eleven at Taggart Stadium Saturday afternoon to win easily, 26-0.

After scoring on a 50-yard sustained drive late in the initial period, the Tartans became a powerhouse in the last quarter to push across three additional touchdowns. The visitors garnered 18 first downs to four for the Blue and White gridders.

Coach Baker cleared the bench, using three full teams, while the Plaid offense kept moving continuously into enemy territory. Baker's reverse plays had the Titans aymed and Pash and McLaughlin, fleet-footed halfbacks, had a field day as they continually broke loose for sizeable gains.

Skibos Start Drive

Both attacks failed to function during most of the first period, but finally after exchanging several punts, the Skibos started a touchdown drive from midfield. Newton punted to McLaughlin who eluded several tacklers and brought the ball from his own 35 to the mid-stripe. McLaughlin started the drive with an end run that carried to the Titan 36. Pash fumbled but a Carnegie Tech griddler covered the piskin on the 32.

After McLaughlin made two Pash skirted the end and raced to the 20 before he was knocked out of bounds. Byers hit center for four, and McLaughlin ran wide around the other end to reach the 5-yard line. Byers on two cracks at the center of the line went over for the touchdown. The pass from center was bad and McLaughlin muffed the conversion.

Scheid brought the Westminster fans to their feet when he took Hall's kickoff on the 15 and momentarily in the clear, racing to the Titan 45 before he was brought down from behind. McDaniel picked up nine on an end run and Newton plunged to the Tartan 44 for a first down. The attack bogged down and Newton punted over the goal line.

Carnegie Tech passed up a scoring opportunity in the second quarter when Cantini intercepted Newton's wobbly pass on the mid-stripe and returned to the 32. Newton atoned for the blunder by intercepting Cantini's pass on the 8-yard line, and then booting beautifully 68 yards to the Plaid's 25.

Volunteers Aid Apple Picking

Some of the city lads of New Castle demonstrated they can take it in an apple orchard Sunday when a group of men went to New Wilmington to pick apples on the farm of Lauren Thompson. Mr. Thompson has a crop of about 5,000 bushels of apples to be picked and needs help badly.

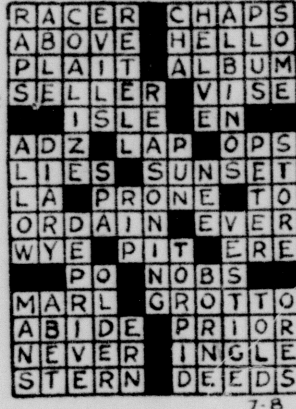

Included in the volunteer apple pickers' group were Attorney Glenn Berry, Leper Mathews, Numa F. Vidal, Louis Kreuger, and William Eckles.

Arriving at the farm early in the morning they were put to work in the packing room, grading, sorting and packing apples. In this job they packed 275 bushels of apples. Later they went out into the orchard and picked.

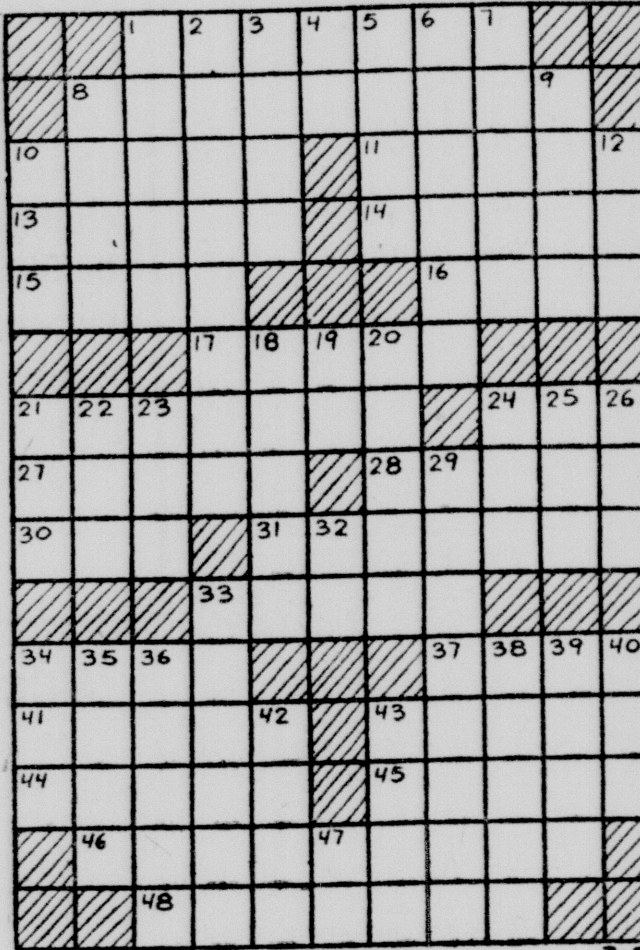

It was a fine gesture of civic co-operation and was an aid to Mr. Thompson. He needs more such help and on Saturday afternoon October 10th the group is going back. Volunteers are needed any one desiring to help save the apple crop is asked to telephone Mr. Berry at 616 or Mr. Mathews at 14.

South American Student In Westminster Classes

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 5.—Moving from a small hacienda with its Spanish culture to New York City with its furious pace and American customs has been the lot of Jorge Franco of Bogotas, Colombia, latest exchange student to enroll here at Westminster college.
Franco came to the United States a year ago, when his father became a member of the Colombian consular staff in Washington, D. C. For the past year, he has been studying in New York, and has learned to speak English fluently. He also speaks French and lived for some time in Paris.
"That was in '29 when we had money," says Jorge ruefully.
The slim, 17-year-old South American lad is studying a pre-law course and intends to follow in his father's footsteps. He has a brother in New York who is a lawyer, and two sisters, who are studying in this country. After completing his education at Westminster, Franco intends to return to his home in Colombia, which he prefers to any other place that he has seen.
"Americans are interested in money," Jorge declares. "In South America we like life and love and literature."
The only trouble with American schools is the comparison of women. "South American girls have more grace, better looks, more sex appeal and more intelligence," according to Franco.
He will be in America for four years during which time he intends to learn to juggle before he returns to his hacienda on the outskirts of Alban.
One of his principal concerns at the present is whether Colombia will enter the war, in which case he would be recalled for army service.
